THE STORY

Owned by the Bompreszi-Mirizzi family (owners of the famous wine shop in Rome called Enoteca Tuscolana), Montecappone lives on the central Eastern coast of Italy in the Marche wine region. They produce white wines from the Verdicchio grape and a red blend of Montepulciano and Sangiovese. Led by winemaker Lorenzo Landi, the property covers 54 hectares of vineyards and 12 hectares of olive groves. The focus in the vineyard centers on low yields, careful selection of grapes, and respect for this beautiful land.
