Cottanera Etna Rosso Riserva Zottorinoto

COUNTRY: Italy REGION: Sicily

APPELLATION: Etna

THE STORY

The history of Cottanera began in 1962 with Francesco

Cambria when he purchased 100 hectares (247 acres) of vineyards and hazelnut groves near his birthplace in Randazzo, at the foot at Mt. Etna. Francesco grew hazelnuts and initially sold his grapes to the local cooperative. In the late 1980's, Francesco's son Gugliemo decided to build a winery to produce his own wine instead of selling the grapes. Gugliemo was joined by his brother Enzo in the new venture and thus, in the mid-90's the first wines labeled as "Cottanera" were born. The name Cottanera comes from an ancient village positioned alongside the family vineyards, along the banks of the river Alcantara. After the death of Guglielmo, Cottanera is now guided Enzo and Gugliemo's children Mariangela, Francesco and Emanuele.
